How can I get the full text of an article? I only found the abstract.

Navigate to the Walsh College Library Home Page. Click on E-Journal Search located directly above the Catalog Search Box.

This brings up the Journal Search box. In the Journal Search box enter the title or ISSN. You may also browse the alphabetical listing of journal titles:

If for example, you search for Journal of Accountancy, you would see the following:
A list of databases that index that journal in full text will be displayed. Check the dates covered to make sure the date you need is included. (In general, ABI/INFORM and EBSCO Business Source Elite links are the easiest to use.)
If you select EBSCOhost Business Source Elite, your next screen would look like this:

The screen for EBSCO Business Source Elite will display a list of years on the right. When you click the + sign in front of the date, the issues for that year come up. Choose the issue that you need from that year to get a list of full text articles in that issue. For example, if you choose 2017, all of the issues for that year will display:
Issues for the year you chose will display

Selecting Vol. 224 Issue 6 – Dec2017 brings up 24 articles in that issue:

Locate the article title you need and click on the PDF Full Text to get the article in full text.
